

QUESTIONS

Is it important to my partner or could it be important to my future partner?

Do I have a partner who I want to create embryos with, or should I explore treatments for fertility and egg preservation?

Am I willing to delay cancer treatment to freeze my eggs or create embryos?

How important is it to me to have a biological child?

Can I afford the fertility preservation process?

Am I open to exploring different ways to build a family, for instance using an egg donor, adopting a child or having a child through a gestational surrogate?

Will I regret decisions around fertility if I don't preserve my fertility now?

To Ask Yourself About Fertility After a Cancer Diagnosis

(bodies with vaginas)

